

National Aeronautics and Space Administration

For a quarter century,
NASA's Chandra X-ray Observatory

has revolutionized our understanding of the universe. Managed by the Marshall Space Flight Center and operated by the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, Chandra is one of NASA's flagship missions. This unparalleled X-ray telescope enables astronomers to investigate phenomena as diverse as comets, black holes, supernova remnants, dark matter and much more.

LEARN MORE

chandra.si.edu

nasa.gov

25
CHANDRA

